Opie Read Tonight

Tonight at the El Paso theatre Opie Read, the well known author, humorist and lecturer, will appear in readings and impersonations taken from his own works. Mr. Read is a humorist with an international reputation, many of his books having been translated into other languages. His books are read in every land and by every class of humanity, for they contain that one touch of nature which makes the whole world kin. All really great humorists are also masters of pathos, and Mr. Read is no exception to this rule, for he alternately has his audience in tears and laughter. His entertainment tonight promises to be a real treat—one containing both pleasure and profit.

Tickets for tonight may be secured at the International Book Store, up to 7 o'clock, after which they will be taken to the El Paso theatre, where the entertainment will begin at 8:30. Following are the prices: Lower floor, $1.00; balcony, 75 cents; gallery, 50 cents.

Seats Tomorrow for Elsie Janis

At 9:30 tomorrow, Thursday, morning at the office of the Crawford theatre seats will go on sale for Elsie Janis, who will be at the El Paso theatre Saturday night. Owing to the unprecedented heavy demand for seats for this performance it has been decided to put the tickets on sale a day earlier than the customary time, so that everybody may have an equal chance.

Miss Janis will be in El Paso for one performance only, all efforts to induce her to give a matinee having proved futile. The prices for this one performance Saturday night are as follows: Lower floor, $2.00; balcony, $1.00 and $1.50; gallery, 50 cents.

Miss Janis, who will be seen in George Ade's screaming comedy, "The Slim Princess," is the youngest and cleverest comedienne in the country. Her chief lieutenant in the fun making is Joseph Cavorth, who for years has been recognized as the greatest German comedian now before the public. Supporting these two stars is a big company of nearly 100; a large per cent of them pretty girls who sing and dance their way into the good graces of the audience. The costumes and scenery for this production are most gorgeous, and taken altogether "The Slim Princess" promises to be the greatest musical comedy ever seen in El Paso.

BRICKLAYERS HOLD SMOKE-LUNCH FEST

As Side Attractions There Were Talks and Some Boxing Stunts.

Boats with the bumpers over lunch and bouts with the mite amused members of Bricklayers' No. 2 last night at a smoker and Dutch lunch held in Union Labor hall. Nearly 400 persons packed the hall and ate at three long tables.

It was a justification of employees and employer, for present were many officials of both city and county and many contractors. A. E. Bartlett, city auditor, acted as toastmaster, and as first stunt Frank J. Williams read some "poems" about the union members. Mayor Kelly told how he nearly became a railway brakeman; Judge A. J. Elyar said that the Bricklayers' union always respected the "other fellow" and gave an honest day's work; Judge J. R. Harper told a story; Henry M. Walker told of cooperation between employer and employee, and W. W. Bridges, county attorney, said a number of things.

In the boxing bouts, which were staged in a ring at the end of the hall, some lively going developed. Parker and Murphy, each wore one black, started out to go six rounds, but four goes were enough for Murphy. H. G. Hester and Walter Irwin, two mechanics, sparred two rounds for points. Art Rick refereed the bouts.

ALL MUST GO TO TRIAL OCT. 1 IN ONE CASE, DECLARES JUDGE

Separate Trials Denied Men Indicted on Transporting Dynamite Charge.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 13.—All the defendants indicted for violation of federal statutes governing transportation of explosives must go to trial in one case on October 1, according to the final ruling of Judge Anderson today, after he had heard arguments of attorneys for the defense on a motion for separate trials.

"Not guilty" was the plea of 45 men arraigned in federal court here on indictments charging complicity in the alleged conspiracy unlawfully to transport dynamite from state to state. Judge Anderson overruled all demurrers of the defense, but granted 59 days for the filing of exceptions to his ruling.

Consolidation of the cases asked by United States district attorney Miller was ordered, subject to petition for separate trials if the defense so desired. The court instructed that the defendants appear when presentation of the matter is made. The trial was set for October 1.

When Judge Anderson announced he would overrule the demurrers to the 24 indictments he turned to the defendants for whom seats had been reserved in the courtroom.

"Gentlemen, do you know the nature of the charges against you?" "We do," came in a heavy chorus. "Then one by one the indicted men, headed by Frank M. Ryan, president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, arose as their names were called by the clerk and responded: "Not guilty."

Attacks from many angles were made on the indictments charging the defendants with aiding and abetting Orrie E. McNamara and John J. and James E. McNamara in the transportation of dynamite on passenger trains, with being principals with McNamara in the transportation of dynamite, and with having conspired and violated the statute prohibiting such transportation.

That the statute of limitations had run against the offense of conspiracy alleged, and that the indictments did not state violation of the law because it was not set out that the defendants had not labeled packages of explosives they were alleged to have carried on passenger trains, were the two principal contentions of counsel for the defense. Elijah Zoline and Patrick O'Donnell, of Chicago, Walter Ball, of Munich, Ind., and W. N. Harding, of this city, "I am unable to see the merit in these interpretations," said Judge Anderson, in overruling the motions to quash.

As I read the acts of 1816, 1869 and 1903 on the subjects, it is plain that it is unlawful for a man to carry explosives on any vehicle, train or vessel of a common carrier that transports passengers for hire."

In refusing to accept the plea of the defense that the statute of limitations had run in the case, the court approved the argument of district attorney Miller that the conspiracy was alleged to have begun in 1906, and that limit of time for prosecution had not expired in 1906 acts for the reason that though the conspiracy is alleged to have begun in 1906, acts are alleged to have been committed in furtherance thereof as late as April, 1911.

Motion to quash were not made as to the indictments against eight of the 44 defendants that did not appear in court. All of them were the McNamara brothers, in San Quentin prison, Cal., and Orrie McNamara, in jail at Los Angeles.

Was Birmingham in Darrow's Room? Walter Drew, counsel for the National Erectors' association, said he had received a telegram from J. D. Frederick, prosecutor of Los Angeles county, Cal., that private conversations of Clarence Darrow, indicted on the charge of attempting to bribe jurors in the McNamara case, had been recorded by means of a telephonic device during the last month.

The machine was installed in Darrow's room in a hotel near Fort Worth, a detective from the Erectors' association, a station, Drew said, and wires led to a nearby room where stenographers copied conversations alleged to have related to Darrow's case. A bellboy Drew added, had informed Darrow of the presence of the instrument, and it was removed Tuesday.

HOT NEWS FROM THE FRONT BY "A REAL WAR CORRESPONDENT" Why is a war? The answer is the increased business in the Postal and Western Union telegraph offices. Not by the heavy tolls of the real war correspondents, but by the night letters and telegrams which are being sent back east by the amateur war heroes who are romancing in this rosy glade of the world's theater of action.

So exciting have been the terrible scenes and happenings of the last two days on the border, the charge of soldiers upon the cantinas and the awful slaughter of commandeered Terrazas cattle, that one fair-haired youth, who had been acting as war correspondent by proxy, sent a message back to Columbus which is in Ohio.

It was a consoling, yet even an affectionate message, was that dot the blood of fallen heroes and the bravery of a boy scout. In its brief entirety the message from the front "To Mr. Cleon A. — Columbus, O: "Why is a war? I am here and am working now. I am a real war correspondent now. I don't think I will get shot, however, I will keep on the watch."

The final sentence is a bit ambiguous for it does not make clear whether it is the intention to get shot or to avoid getting shot, although the inference is that he "will keep on the watch" to make an envelope for some bullet out of his fair, young form.

Business of much weeping and a bouquet of halfpinks for the fallen hero should he gain his ambition.

ONE FATALITY IN TWO TRAIN WRECKS

Terre Haute, Ind., March 13.—Twenty-four passenger train No. 23 on the Big Four, known as "the Twenty-four St. Louis-to-New York" train crashed head on into a freight train on the main track within 200 yards of the station at Greencastle at 9:40 o'clock. Engineer J. C. Millam, of Indianapolis, riding in the cab of the freight engine, was killed.

Twenty-two injured. Milwaukee, Wis., March 12.—Twenty-two persons were hurt none, it is said, fatally, through the derailment and ditching of a portion of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul passenger train No. 22, near Oakwood, Wis. A relief train brought to a Milwaukee hospital those requiring medical aid. The baggage cars were demolished. The engine was broken in two and overturned, the day coach was thrown on its side, 100 feet from the right-of-way, while the parlor and diner remained upright but off the track.
